AGGÜDO

አገደ

Pronunciation: ah-GOO-doh

Aggüdo is a term in our Tigrigna language that has been passed down by our ancestors to multiple generations and now currently rests in our hands.

While the word literally translates to 'hut' or 'shelter', the essence of the word embodies sanctuary, community, gathering, and belonging. The origins of our coffee beans trace back to cultures as old as the Earth.

In Ethiopia, coffee is more than just a beverage. It is a cherished ritual that represents togetherness, belonging, and shared experiences. Our intention was to recreate the warmth and community here in Calgary, paving the way for the establishment of AGGÜDO.

Drawing inspiration from memories and experiences back in Ethiopia, we embarked on a journey to deliver the authentic flavours and cultural richness of Ethiopian coffee traditions. Experimenting with different brewing methods, roasting techniques, and Ethiopian coffee bean varieties became our passion.
